

Foreign students face crisis at Harvard

- 1 Harvard University is one of the best schools in the world. The school is very difficult to enter and has a very high level of education.
- 2 But now, international students at Harvard are facing a serious crisis. President Donald Trump has frozen Harvard's ability to accept new international students. This means foreign students cannot study at Harvard for now.
- 3 If this really happens, more than 6,000 foreign students may lose their visas and have to leave the U.S. Harvard University says that the action is unfair and against the law. The school went to court, and a judge stopped the order for now. But the future is still unclear.
- 4 Many students are worried or angry. They ask, "Will I be sent home?" "Can I finish my degree?" They also say, ①"We feel like we're being used as pawns in a game." Harvard now has about 260 Japanese students and researchers. In 2023, more than 13,500 Japanese students studied in the U.S. Japanese students also study in Australia, South Korea, Canada, Taiwan, and the U.K, but the U.S. has the largest number.

5 This problem started because Trump does not like Harvard. In April, he stopped giving government support to the university. In May, he asked Harvard to give information about international students, but Harvard refused. Many people think this is a punishment because Harvard did not stop student protests about the war in Gaza.

6 The court says, “Foreign students make up 27% of this school. Without its international students, Harvard is not Harvard.”

7 Education must be open to everyone - no matter where they come from.

Subject: What do you think about the Harvard news?

Hi there, I just read an article about foreign students at Harvard University.

It was shocking to hear that so many international students may have to leave the U.S. because of President Trump's order. It's not fair to take away their chance!

I want to ask you two questions:

1. Would you like to study in a foreign country someday?
2. Are there any foreign students in your school?

I'd love to hear from you soon!

Your friend, Sam

Hi, Sam! Thank you for your e-mail.

Best wishes,
